

Salesforce CRM

Questions:

- AGILE MODEL
- Effectivity

Based on the report of Boeing 777 program made me realize that choosing the right model in developing a system is important. Depending on the system required, it can affect the process, production and even the success of the system. Besides this there are other factors that contribute in developing a system. As reported in the spotify app and salesforce crm, feedbacks are relevant on the next cycle of improving the software. Other reporters also emphasized the importance of stakeholder collaboration and feedback.